

Free Border Market at the River: Peaceful and Harmony Reflection

Pathum Sookaromdee<sup>1</sup>, Viroj Wiwanitkit<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Private Academic Consultant, Bangkok, Thailand.

<sup>2</sup>Adjunct Professor, Chandigarh University, Punjab, India; Honorary Professor, Dr DY Patil Vidhyapeeth, Pune, India.

Abstract

The marketplace is where goods are bought and sold. The location of the market can occasionally be fascinating. Border markets are locations where global business transactions take place. In some exceptional circumstances, local authorities set the border market based on the friendly relations between the countries that share the border region. Even if there may not be any formal regulations, the international marketing is successfully controlled by harmonization and the most fundamental human relationships.

Keywords: border, market, river, peaceful, harmony.

Introduction

Market is the place for buying and selling. Sometimes, the market locates at an interesting place. Border market is a place that the international business exchange exists. In some extraordinary case, the border market is locally set based on peaceful relationship between nations that share the border area. There might be no official regulation but the harmonization, the basic primitive human relationship, successfully control the international marketing.

Case study

The case study is namely Zikaya city market. It locates at the border area between Maeramat District, Tak province, Thailand and Kayin State of Myanmar. In the summer, the local international market is set and the bamboo bridge is available for the local people to cross the border. There is no formal regulation. Many shops locates there and it is a famous tourist spot at that area.

Figure 1: Zikaya city market

Discussion

In order to reduce cross-border transaction costs and facilitate global trade and economic activity, a number of criteria are crucial [1]. In a setting where aid programs is playing a bigger part in the politics of borders, there is a special method in which the cross-border market is conceptualized [2]. Yet formality might not always be required. The foundational idea of humanity is harmony and peaceful coexistence.

The international border market at a remote Indochina location is an example given in the current article. Even though there isn't a formal border rule, it may indicate that there is a calm and fruitful economic communication. The official is not horrible, but it occasionally causes problems because of things like numerous disagreements on borderline matters. Although the official is not awful, there can occasionally be conflict as a result of disagreements over borders that exist in many parts of the world. Although it may appear archaic to buy and sell in a harmonious and peaceful transaction, the practice has persisted up to the present and continues to function successfully.

Conflict of interest: None

References

- Cumming D, Johan S, Khan Z, Meyer M. E-Commerce Policy and International Business. Manag Int Rev. 2023; 63(1): 3-25.
- Molland S. "The perfect business": human trafficking and Lao-Thai cross-border migration. Dev Change. 2010; 41(5): 831-55.